While high the fruit of knowledge hung, unbitten on the tree.

Spending five years at MMA has certainly been challenging and rewarding. The one thing I take with me, if nothing else, is a developing desire for enlture, life experience, and most of all, the recognition of a search for a personal passion. RECOGNITION 1992

ORIENTATION 1995

On Sunday, August 20th, 1995, MMA welcomed one of the largest classes of incoming freshmen in recent years. And what a welcome it was for the 200 plus "youngies" who grimly filed into the gym that afternoon. Squad leaders and company staffs waited eagerly and hungrily in the gym above, thoughts of the mayhem and havoc that they would wreak with their new cadet candidates foremost in their minds. The intensity level was high as the freshmen were led one by one to the waiting 2/C who would deliver them to their respective companies. 1/C Caldwell was at the door to "greet" each new C/C personally. From then on orientation followed the path of past years; there was fire-fighting and sailing, shipboard orientation and intramurals, marching and PT, PT and marching. As the second strenuous week drew to a close, the youngies had settled into the routine nicely and the company staffs found renewed energy in the fact that it was almost over. The race for the Admiral's Cup was tight, with 3rd Co. in the lead, followed closely by 6th Co. and 1st Co. In the talent show, 2nd Co. took first place honors with their "pirate" skit, though not many will soon forget the 3rd Co. seagull or 1st Co.'s "Brady Bunch goes to MMA". 3rd Co. led by 1/C Eric Cardinal, held on to it's lead to win the Admiral's Cup. A close second was 1st Co., commanded by Marc Devereaux, who was awarded the Commandant's Award and the Trustee's Award (most spirited company). Best Marching Unit went to 5th Co., led by 1/C Dave Fernandes.

Saturday, September 2nd may have marked the end of orientation 1995, but as Capt. Gurnon is fond of saying, is was "only the beginning of the journey", for the class of 1999.

There's nothing in the world like a Maritime man.

Are you sure PFM didn't make this?

Maritime Sailing

Maritime Sailing completed another successful season with a fifth place finish in the Kennedy Cup competition, the collegiate equivalent of the national championship. Seniors Vin D'Avena, Eric Mino, Tom Hoskins and Ken Gelnett along with junior Jessalyn Wiley were key members of the 1996 squad. The Bucs were awarded the Judge Trophy at the Kennedy Cup races which recognizes the team demonstrating the best seamanship. This appearance at the Kennedy Cup follows last year's second place finish there and two MacMillan Cup Championships, the only school to capture this prestigious award back to back. Varsity sailing bids farewell to seniors D'Avena, Mino, Hoskins, and Gelnett along with Dong Pley, Jamie Pyle, Eric Simpson and Ben Nguyen who have been such a large part of Maritime Sailing history.

BUCCANEER FOOTBALL

BUCCANEER FOOTBALL DEFENSE FINISHES NUMBER ONE IN NATION

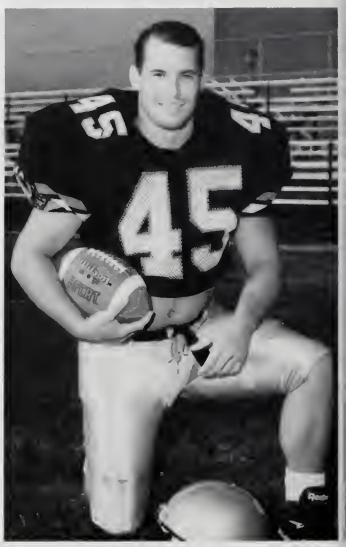
The 1995 Mass. Maritime Academy football team finished the season with a record of 7-2, but the Buccaneer defense was the top rated Division III unit in the U.S.A.

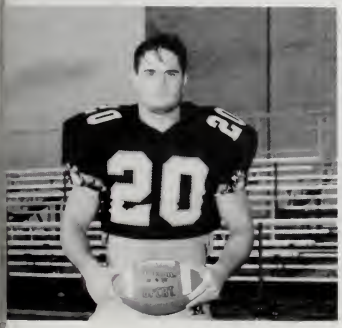
The Bucs were third in rushing defense, allowing just 51.6 yards per game. MMA was ninth nationally against the pass and 24th overall in scoring defense, finishing first overall in total defense

Leading the MMA defense were no less than five seniors named to the New England Football Conference All Conference team. Paul Diamantopoulos (Lowell, MA) was named first team All Conference with 95 tackles, 9 tackles for loss, 8.5 sacks and 7 pass breakups. He is a candidate for the Melberger Award, the Division III equivalent of the Heisman Trophy.

Matt McGhee (Norwood, MA) was named all Conference, his first selection to the "dream team". McGhee had 66 total tackles including 10 sacks. Also named to the first team was junior defensive back Sean Crowe (Pine Beach, NJ). Crowe was second on the team with 88 tackles and added two pass interceptions. Second team selections were seniors Chris Widen (LB, Auburn, MA) and John Columbus (NG, Quincy, MA).

On the offensive side of the ball, seven were named All Conference, six of them underclassmen. Quarterback Deron Jozokos (junior, Lowell, MA) earned first team honors, as did junior tight end Josh Mannke (Stoneham, MA), and freshman wide receiver Mike Kelley (Milford, MA). Second team selections included Brian Tiernan (junior, OL, Dedham, MA), Mike Mirka (freshman, OL, Raynham, MA), Ryan Woodland (freshman, RB, Winchendon, MA) and Boyd Hobson (senior, PK, Hanson, MA).





MARITIME SOCCER

The Buccaneer Soccer Team completed their season with a record of 7-8-1. Sophomore Marcus Montiero made 1st Team All Conference. Most Valuable Player of the season was Junior, Jarrod Haney. Senior Joe Pierce had an excellent Season playing both goal keeper and field. Sophomore Melinda Flynn carved her own nitch in Maritime Sports history as the first woman to start on a men's varsity team. Overall, the team had a great season and with strong underclassmen, next year is looking even better.

BUCCANEER VOLLEYBALL

The Lady Buccaneer Volleyball team completed the 1995 season with a record of 6-16. The Bucs had a competitive season and only improved throughout the tough schedule. The Lady Bucs reached another milestone with their first victory in the MASCAC Tournament, 2-1 decision over Worcester State College. Senior Nicole Ash was named to the Mass. State College Conference First All Star Team, for the second consecutive year. Ash, along with Juniors Amanda Tucker, Amy Banas, And Katie McMaster, Keary Berger and Freshman starter Danielle Silman played exceptionally well throughout the season. A special thanks goes to Coach Corradi and all the fans who came to our home games . . . thanks guys! We appreciated the support.

Buccaneer Lacrosse

The 1996 Buccaneer Lacrosse team was led by seniors Tom Doulau, Paul Disarcina, Doug Shearer, Barrett Pfeifle, and Scott Douglas to a winning season, finishing with a record of 7-6. This season marked a dramatic improvement over a dismal 1995 season of 3-8. The seniors have certainly known a few ups and downs in their maritime Lax careers. The season of 1994 had been their winningest ever, only to fall short of expectations in 1995. The defense was led by Pfeifle, who was selected as an All Pilgrim League defenseman. On the offensive side, Denis Shea led the team with 64 points, and the junior was also named to the Pilgrim League Southeast Division All star team. Graig Joyce, another junior, was also named. Buccaneer Lacrosse looks forward to another successful season in 1997 led by future seniors Shea, Marchant, Collins and Doucette.

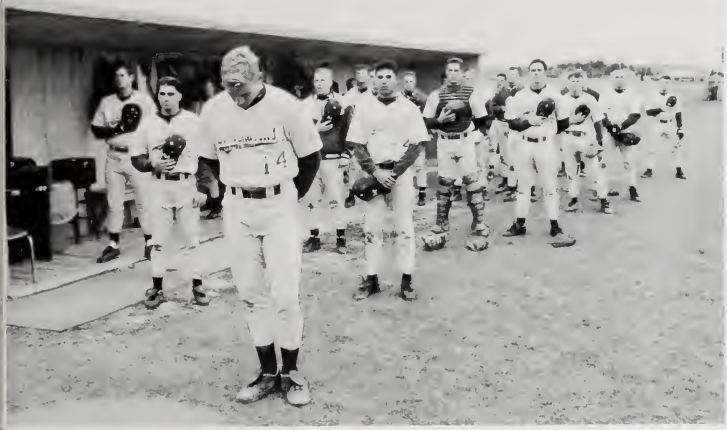
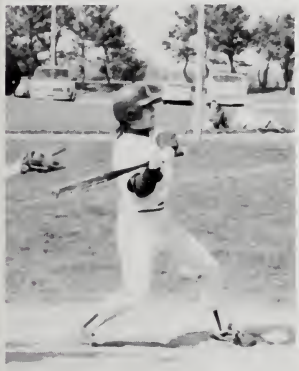
Buccaneer Baseball

Eight seniors that spent four years in the program can be credited for restoring the Buccaneer baseball team to New England prominence. They were a part of a 12-15 team as freshmen, and completed the 1996 season with a record of 20-12, earning an ECAC Tournament bid and marking their best record since 1983. The Bucs defeated UMASS Dartmouth 10-6 in the opening round of the Tournament and made it all the way to the semi-finals to eventually fall to champion Tufts University. The seniors contributing to the incredible success of Bucball are Jeff Antman, Steve Burke, Joe Caproni, Bill Gorry, Brendan Ramsey, Mark Thibeault, Dan Tinkham and Chris Widen. Widen who batted .390 and set the single season MMA record for stolen bases with 29, was named to the Mass State College Conference first team all stars, along with Tinkham who led the team with innings pitched (68) and wins (5-5). Junior Derek Santis who hit .360 was named to the second team. Widen was also named to the second team All New England by the New England Division III Baseball Coaches. Even with the loss of eight of its finest, the future still looks very bright for Buccaneer baseball.



Buccaneer Softball

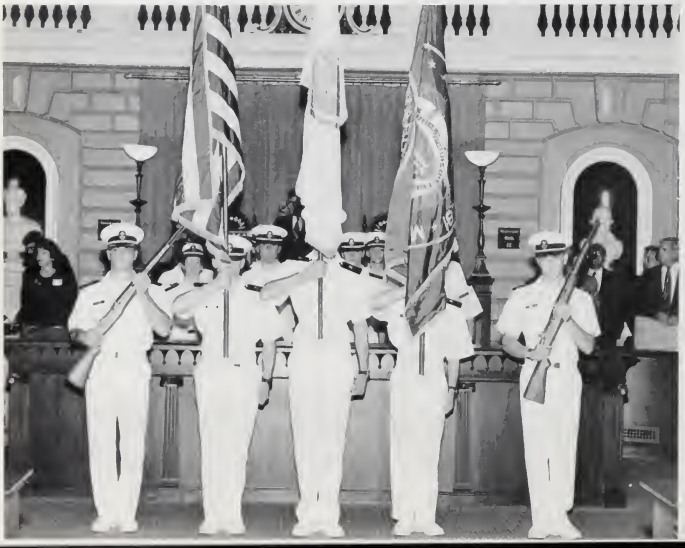
The Lady Buccaneer softball team continues to improve by finishing with a record of 6-12 in 1996. The squad was led by seniors Jen Foley, Nici Ash and Marina Gaglias. The Lady Bucs have shown that they are well on their way to becoming a force in New England Division III softball. From a bleak season in 1993 with only one lone victory, to two victories in 1994 and 1995's five wins, the Bucs just keep getting better. This season also marked the milestone of their first victory ever over a Mass State College opponent. Foley led the team in hitting with an average of .490 with eight extra base hits. Ash was also a force to be reckoned with by hitting three home runs and batting .457. Gaglias was excellent defensively at second base and hit .278. On the mound the Lady Bucs were once again led by Jen Jones while newcomer Julie Penney provide some much needed relief. Buccaneer softball has a lot to look forward to in 1997 under the leadership of soon-to-be seniors Katie McMaster, Jen Jones, Amy Banas, and Amanda Tucker.



Regimental Honor Guard

The Regimental Honor Guard recovered well from a turbulent start and made the 1995-1996 year a proud and successful one. With functions every weekend and two hour practices on weekdays, the Honor Guard was constantly busy, proudly representing MMA. They even managed to revive the long lost tradition of a rifle salute at evening colors.

Some of the most memorable highlights for the R.H.G. were the Admiral's Ball, the South Boston St. Patrick's Day Parade, Veteran's Day at Otis, FIGAWI, the color guard for the Boston Red Sox game, and the Miss Massachusetts Pageant. As always, there were the old standbys of Homecoming, the Class of 1999 Recognition Dance, and the Miss Taunton Pageant. Commander Kenny Gelnett and Exec. Lars Whelan move on to bigger and better things after a successful senior year and hand over the reigns to Jeremy Allen and Edward Vacha. For the Regimental Honor Guard, the future looks very bright!



Maritime Crew

Maritime Men's and Women's crew enjoyed a successful season in 1995-1996 and marked their final season as a club sport at MMA. Expectations are high for Maritime Crew's debut as a varsity sport in the fall of 1996. This past year the Crew team competed in both the fall and spring. The highlight of the fall was definitely the appearance at the Head of the Charles in Boston, the Mecca for college rowers. In the spring the Men's and Women's teams competed against King's Point for the first ever Maritime Cup. The combined overall scores from both the men and women made Mass. Maritime victorious. Also of note was the team's appearance at the New England finals where the women placed fourth against the top schools of the region.

Rugby Club

The Rugby Club's 1996 season was not a winning one, but will be memorable for all seniors. The seniors put a lot of time and effort to make this season a success. Matches were fun, especially the Clark game (MMA 64 CU 0). Besides the matches the club had fund raisers. Most successful were the Alumni game and the dunk tank. The senior Ruggers would like to say one thing to the younger ruggers — keep on playing, drinking, and singing to the game that takes b——! Good luck in the future matches.

Senior Ruggers: Hudda, Peanut, Bren, Georgie.

President: Gilly
Secretary: Aug
Treasurer: Engie

Regimental Band

The Massachusetts Maritime Regimental Band performs for many occasions throughout the year, both on and off campus. Under the direction of Lt. Edward Heywood, the jazz band plays several concerts and dinner functions. The regimental Marching Band has played for school functions and parades around the state. Recently played in Naples, Italy and in several functions around Boston including Red Sox Games. The Bandmaster, Keith Chamberlin and the XO, Tom Hoskins have been a great influence this year. They were able to allocate new equipment and enlarge the band to its present size. With their help, the band has been able to keep the pride and the traditions of the Academy alive and well.

Director Ed Heywood leads the band through a practice session.

Marching in the St. Patrick's Day Parade in South Boston.

HOCKEY MARITIME

The 1995 Hockey team lead by Coach Manamon had its best season in recent years. Captions Marc Magliozzi, Marc Devereaux, Greg Larson and Mike Evensen made it their goal of the season to beat Salve Regina. The game was in Newport, but that didn't stop the Bucaneers. The Bues came out fired up and beat them, no, embarassed them, in their own rink. All of the seniors scored, as well as some underclass. This was definately the year to remember for the seniors. It was a great season, ending with a record of 7-3-1. Good luck to Coach Manamon and next year's club.

Ring Dance 1996

It's finally here. Ring Dance 1996. Thanks to Tony DeConto and company we boarded the Scotia Prince in Portland, Maine with great anticipation of fun and the most sincere hopes that our dates would not get seasick. We headed out for Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, gambling and dancing the night away. Once in Yarmouth, we were taken to the hotel and greeted by the Canadian mounties and a bag pipe player. The dance-filled night lasted for what seemed like days. A great time was definitely had by all. We woke early on Sunday for our return trip to Portland, which consisted mostly of a bit of gambling, though mostly resting from the night before. What a great way to end our stay at MMA!

Look out Canada, here comes MMA!!

Marc Devereaux, Marc Magliozzi, Mark Thibeault, Matt McGhee, Mike Kusler, and Joe Caproni in Yarmouth, Nova Scotia.

Crunchies doing what they do best!

The time-honored tradition of ring-dipping

Aren't we looking dapper?

LOOKING BACK TO 1946

The midshipmen of the Class of 1946 spent their two years at a somewhat different Massachusetts Maritime Academy, but the framework that successfully produces the finest merchant mariners today has remained almost unchanged since then. The "Chosen 39", which they called themselves, lived in a dormitory building on the Hyannis, Mass. campus in the battalion of cadets. The battalion was commanded by a Bat. Commander and his Adjutant with six company commanders. Liberty was not so plentiful as it is today, and there were fewer activities to choose from. Among the most popular choices were rowing, basketball, and rifle teams as well as the student publication, the "Full and By." The Chosen 39's first year was also the first year for organized football at MMA, with a team that was coached entirely by midshipmen.

The first of their two training cruises took place aboard the USMSTS American Pilot. They departed from Ft. Schuyler, NY and made various stops in the Long Island Sound vicinity. The highlight of their trip was the liberty call in New York City. The second cruise, aboard the USMSTS American Mariner, was infinitely more exciting for them than the first. Ironically enough they boarded the ship at the state pier in Buzzards Bay, and proceeded eastward through the Cape Cod Canal. Among the numerous ports of call were St. Thomas, V.I., San Juan, Puerto Rico, Kingston, Jamaica, Vera Cruz, Mexico and Galveston Texas. With more time spent on the high seas, there was more celestial navigation to do, leaving the deckies of 1946 complaining much like the deckies of 1996.

The "Chosen 37", after having lost two classmates through the course of two years, left Mass Maritime in June of 1946. Perhaps the Superintendent, Commodore Claude O. Bassett, USNR said it best in his letter to the graduating class:

"We have tried to give you the basic training you need to begin your sea careers. From now on, it is your duty to apply these skills as best you can to the work ahead. It will be your responsibility to preserve the high reputation of the American seaman, and add to that proud record, your own achievements.

You will carry the flag to the ends of the earth. We wish you a fair passage, a taut ship, and good holding ground at your last anchorage."

Morning Formation at Hyannis, Mass.

E.D. was no picnic.

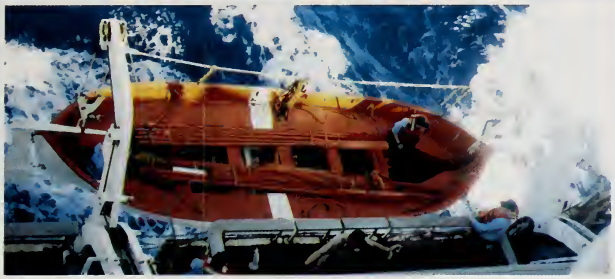
Training Cruises 1993-1996



Cruise 1993

Vera Cruz, Mexico
Bridgetown, Barbados
San Juan, Puerto Rico
Ft. Lauderdale, Florida

Cruise '93 proved to be a really good time. This was the first year that we were able to put the new "splinter beach" to use. Between hatch ball and sunbathing, it was almost always packed.

Our first port of Vera Cruz, Mexico was an experience new to most cadets. There were hammock peddlers everywhere and you could even pay to be shocked (literally).

Next, we traveled to Barbados. With the beach party and the steel drum band, this port was a favorite of most.

For our third port, we entered Puerto Rico. This was especially enjoyable due to the use of United States currency. Also, San Juan is quite well known for its night life.

The final port was Ft. Lauderdale. Most cadets stayed on the strip, though many traveled to Disney World or to the Keys.

Even though it was a great time, all cadets were happy to see good old B-Bay again.

The Caribbean

Cruise 1994

Dublin, Ireland
Amsterdam, Netherlands
Edinburgh, Scotland

The spring weather allowed the TSPS the opportunity to head to Northern Europe when the winter cruise was canceled. Crossing the "BIG POND" was an experience. On one memorable night, the Crate was rolling like a pig in the rough waters and no one aboard could get any sleep. Even the Captain fell out of his rack and the copier in ComCad took a "diga".

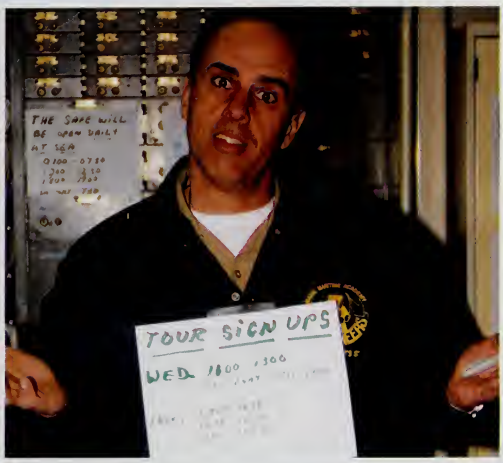
Once we survived the trip across, we were on to the first port of Dublin, Ireland. The Guinness Brewery was the hot spot where most of the cadets were found. Other notable attractions were Trinity College, St. Patrick's Cathedral, and numerous parks and castles. Also of note was the ship-wide day of restriction due to the poor redecorating choice of a particular cadet.

The next port was Amsterdam, Netherlands. This will always be remembered as the port where anything goes. Most cadets saw things that they will never forget. Major sight-seeing attractions were the Van Gogh Museum, Ann Frank House, the Red Light District, and the picturesque countryside.

Our final port of call was Edinburgh, Scotland. The castle with the cannon pointing directly at the TSPS was the most noticeable land mark. Maritimers found this beautiful city rich with sights, shopping, activities, and night life.

The trip home was not nearly as rough as the trip across. We were all surprised to find spring waiting for us back in Buzzards Bay. Cruise 1994 offered quite a bit for everyone, but the cruise nickname of WAFWOT was still quite fitting for the time underway.

Northern Europe



Cruise 1995

Bridgetown, Barbados
Williamstad, Curacao
St. John, U.S.V.I
Ft. Lauderdale, Florida

Cruise '95 proved that in any plan there has to be room for flexibility and improvisation. The first change came when Fortaleza, Brazil fell through as one of the ports of call. After an uneventful start, it might have seemed that all else would go as planned.

Our first land sighted after the long southward trek through the Atlantic was the lovely island of St. Lucia. In case anyone missed it, the TSPS generously circled the area providing ample opportunity for sight-seeing.

Our first port was Bridgetown on the island of Barbados, home of Mt. Gay Rum, beautiful beaches, extremely small cars, and livestock by the side of the road.

Next, the much anticipated equator crossing, which almost went off without a hitch. Unfortunately, rough seas nixed plans to dunk polliwogs into the ocean and instead of rowing just a monomoy across the equator, we "rowed" the TSPS across.

Our second stop was the port of Williamstad, Curacao. This dry island, where they make their own water (and Amstel Beer) provided something for everyone in its sights, beaches, casinos and night life.

Next was the unplanned anchoring off St. John, U.S.V.I. Paradise. What more needs to be said.

Our final port before home was Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, where it was just plain good to be back in the States. For those willing to make the four hour trip, Disney World was an option. For all those not interested in visiting the big rat, the great weather and Ft. Lauderdale area afforded plenty to do.

If nothing else, Cruise '95 provided a great opportunity to get a tan, and to just get away from the harsh New England winter.

EQUATOR CROSSING

EQUATOR CROSSING

Where else but at MMA can you wait in a tremendously long line with a couple hundred of your not-so-close friends just so you can be put through a disgusting series of ordeals?

Shellback '95, slimy and messy as it was, was a unique experience that all of us will remember forever. Who could forget the arrival of Davy Jones (AKA Capt. Bushy) amid flares, fire hoses and flying fish? Or how about locking lips with the dolphin fish, surely an exciting experience for the more deprived polliwogs. From the lovely PFM prepared breakfast of dolphin innards and sea snot to slithering around the ship on our bellies, Shellback will always be an event we can look back on and laugh, as well as breathe a sigh of relief that it's over with.

Boy, they sure make a big deal of getting a haircut around here!

Cruise 1996

Tenerife, Canary Islands
Naples, Italy
Barcelona, Spain
Boston, Mass.

The largest snow storm in years hit the northeast the day before registration and dumped snow like there was no tomorrow. Those "lucky" few who showed up early were confronted with the joy of snow shoveling, scullery, standing watches, and restriction to the ship for safety's sake. When the Blizzard of '96 was through with us it had left a few feet of snow in its wake and questions as to whether or not the TSPS would pull out on time. With two more snow storms waiting in the wings, the outlook was not encouraging. Finally, on Saturday the 13th, the TSPS made a careful departure from the dock, so as not to "deep six" the Copeland Building. In a close moment, the tug Chicopee parted its hawser while on our port bow, but as we made our westward exit, the view astern revealed that Copelaud was still a land-bound object.

The trip across the Atlantic was uneventful if nothing else. The weather was perpetually rainy, cold and gloomy, with plenty of pitching and rolling for all ahoard. It seemed that the dark cloud that hangs over campus had decided to go on cruise with us.

Tenerife, Canary Islands, proved that timing really is everything. Weekends and afternoons (during siesta) are not happening times for this city. The night life didn't get going until most people were returning to the ship. For those who rented cars, the driving proved to he a harrowing experience. The beaches might have been nice, hut the unusually chilly and windy weather nixed that option.

After departing Tenerife, with dark cloud in tow, we headed north to the Med. Once in the straits of Gibraltar, rain and fog overcame us. The famous "Rock of Gibraltar" remained concealed, despite the horde of eager folks on deck with eameras handy.

Naples, Italy, was a welcome improvement over the Canary Islands, although the temperatures were even colder. For most people the overnight trip to Rome was the way to go. Who could pass up on the Vatican, St. Peter's, the Sistine Chapel, and the Coliseum? The ancient city of Pompei was also a popular attraction, as was the beautiful island of Capri, just a short ferry ride away. For those needing a taste of home, the USO had American heer (cheap) and shuttles to the nearby U.S. Naval Base.

Cruise '96 was definitely the cruise where we saved the best for last. Barcelona, Spain, greeted us with lovely weather and enough to do to satisfy almost anyoue. For sight-seers there was the Olympic complex on Montjuic Mountain (site of the 1992 Summer Olympics), the beautiful cathedral in the Gothic sector, Gaudi's Sagrada Familia Temple, numerous parks, and many fascinating apartment buildings. La Rambla and the mall on the dock gave even the most scrutinizing shopper the opportunity to "shop til you drop". The night life was more than adequate, with places like Planet Hollywood and the Hard Rock Cafe. When it came time to hegin the journey home, most agreed that a return trip was definitely in order.

We were welcomed in Boston hy a huge crowd of friends and relatives, as well as cold temps and strong winds. Manning the rails suddenly took on a whole new layer of unpleasantness. Certainly no one would deny that it was nice to he at the Black Falcon Terminal, not home hut damn close enough. We spent the final days of Cruise '96 readying the Patriot State for its next couple of months. To sum it all up you might say that before it hegan we never thought it would get started, and once it got started, we never thought it would end. We bid the Patriot State and Cruise '96 a fond farewell with a deep sigh of relief.

Marine Safety/Environmental Protection

"Engie", Regimental Executive Officer, Rugby I-4, All college committee 4. During my time at the Academy I have both made friends and lost a dear one. Everything I have accomplished was for you too Ryan. I want to thank my family, the Fiala Family, and my friends Dave, Chris, Paul, and Megan for their unconditional support. I could not have done it without you. "The reward of a thing well done is to have done it."

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

When I took the reigns of this yearbook, I had the assurances of many that I could expect little help from the Class of 1996 or other classes. Fortunately for the yearbook (and my sanity's sake) that prediction has been proven wholly false.

Without the help of Co-Editor Marc Magliozzi and seniors like Jen Foley and Dan Young, there would not have been a 1996 Muster. And there are also the vital and deadline-making performances of my classmates and the members of the Classes of 1998 and 1999. (Sean, I owe you!). Thank you everyone for all of your assistance.

To the Class of 1996: We have done our best to give you nothing less than an exceptional book. It is the first book in many years to include all four classes and it is the last to stand on its own financial legs. From myself and the staff of the Muster, congratulations and good luck in all that you do.

To Nancy, Arlene and Lt. Claridge: Thank you for your help, guidance and support during this long and difficult voyage. I would not have survived without you!

Thank you to the Massachusetts Maritime Academy Foundation who made the 1996 Muster possible.
